and
Friday, October 19, 8:00 am - 4:00 pm

ISO/IEC Standard 17025
Course Overview: This course is aimed at testing and calibration laboratories. The training program is designed to provide a complete overview of the ISO/IEC Standard 17025:2005 requirements. Valuable insights and tools for your staff to help them implement the requirements of these standards will be offered. There will be special emphasis placed on topics such as internal audits, management review, proficiency testing, complaint handling processes, corrective actions, preventive actions, training, measurement uncertainty and traceability.
Laboratory managers, metrology managers, quality managers, calibration professionals, assessors, test engineers, product certification specialists and other laboratory professionals who desire to gain an understanding of this standard or simply wish to refresh their knowledge should attend this course.
Those attending the course and completing all course work will receive a certificate of attendance. Those also completing and passing the optional written exam will receive a certificate of completion referencing the standard.
